COACH'S COMMENTS

The best sport in the world is upon us. I am excited to see everyone again and play at home in front of our fans.

We have a lot of players returning that I am really excited about. This season is very important for a lot of players individually and I expect them to come in committed and focused to help the team and their careers. The character, commitment and leadership within the room is something I focus on throughout the summer and I am confident everyone will adhere to the team's identity and standards. We have added some exciting players to help fill the void of players lost. Our fans deserve nothing less than our best effort throughout the year.

Essen: The first game back at home, pre season or not is always exciting for us. We will focus on certain details of the game and try to find some chemistry on the weekend. It should be an entertaining game against a good team. We will make the most of this opportunity to showcase our talent and teamwork. I am interested to see how our level stacks up against them and I expect us to come out flying.
